Cracks mar stained glass domes of Mysore Palace

Domes on Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantapa look ugly with German tarpaulin covering them to prevent further damage

Call to repair them before Dasara

By Bapu Lingaraj Urs

Mysuru, Aug. 31- The iconic Mysore Palace, an embodiment of historical grandeur and architectural marvel, faces a new challenge as cracks have appeared in the peacock-shaped stained glass domes atop its Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantapa.

Rainwater seepage is causing damage to the Palace, cherished for its distinctive Indo-Saracenic style, which beautifully blends neoclassical and gothic elements. To address this issue, the domes have been covered with waterproof German tarpaulins and securely fastened at the edges.

This solution, however, has left visitors and enthusiasts disheartened, as they hold the intricate craftsmanship of the traditional-style domes in high esteem. The magnificence of the Mysore Palace, a testament to centuries of artistry, remains unparalleled. Elaborately carved pillars, arches, pavilions and towers adorn the Palace's interior and exterior, contributing to its opulence. Nevertheless, the sight of these majestic domes concealed beneath protective tarpaulins has disappointed both local admirers and global tourists.

A grand Gajapayana from Veeranahosahalli tomorrow

Mysuru / Hunsur, Aug. 31 (MTY,DM&BCT)- With the upcoming Dasara festival just around the corner, the momentous 'Gajapayana' event, featuring the majestic march of elephants from the jungle camps to Mysuru, is poised to commence its journey from Veeranahosahalli in Nagarahole National Park, Hunsur taluk, on Sept. 1 (tomorrow). This inaugural event will see the participation of the first batch of nine elephants.

Forest Officers posing for photo after performing traditional puja to Dasara elephants Dhananjaya, Gopi and Kanjan at Dubare Elephant Camp in Kodagu, this morning.

The Dasara elephants, assembling from their respective base camps at Veeranahosahalli, will initiate their grand procession from the same location in Hunsur taluk. Tomorrow, the elephants are expected to reach Mysuru and will be accommodated at the Aranya Bhavan, Ashokapuram. They will receive a traditional welcome at the Palace on Sept. 4.

Leading the first batch of nine elephants is the proud carrier of the Golden Howdah, Abhimanyu. The rest of the team includes Dhananjaya, Gopi, Kanjan, Vijaya, Arjuna, Bhima, Varalakshmi, and Mahendra. Kanjan was chosen at the last moment as the previously scheduled Parthasarathi is in musth and the Department had to replace him.

The Forest Department has meticulously arranged all preparations to set this march in motion. Over 15 folk teams have been diligently organised to mark the spectacular launch of the event at Veeranahosahalli.

Mysuru District In-charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa will perform a traditional puja tomorrow during Tula Lagna, between 9.45 am and 10.15 am, to inaugurate the Dasara elephants' journey from the Veeranahosahalli Gate.

Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre will release the list of the nine elephants of the first batch and the five elephants of the second batch.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Education may impart knowledge, but along with it, the quality of humility should be inculcated in the educated. A highly qualified person is not truly educated if this quality goes missing in him or her. Humility makes him or her humane and popular among like-minded people. A person can be egoistic due to their social status too.

Giving up one's ego is the first step in one's spiritual progress. As is said in the Gita, only one who has given up the sense of ownership and has sacrificed his false ego, attains eternal peace.

One is not the body or the mind, which are subject to the vagaries of disease and old age. The constant is the consciousness within, the soul. The soul needs the body and mind for its purification, but if the person is blinded by ego over what his body and mind have achieved, then the soul will be forgotten. An anecdote from Srimad Bhagavatha highlights this point.

Jadabharata was a strange mystic, almost treated as insane. King Rahugana, who was passing by, needed a fourth person to carry the palanquin in which he was seated. Jadabharata was spotted and ordered to do the needful. But the palanquin tottered on its way, and the bearers pointed their fingers at Jadabharata.

The king admonished him strongly, commenting on his sturdy build and threatening to punish him. But Jadabharata did not bat an eyelid and continued on his way. When questioned by the curious king, he replied that his words were targeted at his body, which he was not. Immediately the king climbed down and beseeched Jadabharata to explain in detail, to which Jadabharata replied that the king was arrogant because of his bodily stature, which was temporary, and he could be buried under the earth any time in case of an earthquake.

He asked the king to treat the body as a garment that was meant to be discarded after wear and tear. The king realised his folly; he accepted Jadabharata as his teacher and implored him to continue his discourse to him. Finally he attained enlightenment, and in utter humility he bowed not only before Jadabharata but all living entities similar to Jadabharata in thought. As attributed to the Mahatma, "when the ego dies, the soul awakens." —Sandhya Vasudev in Deccan Herald

The craziest hoodie ever made

Tokyo: An up-and-coming fashion brand is selling a Yu–Gi–Oh!-inspired hoodie that lets you become Yugi Muto himself when you zip it all the way up.

"Craziest hoodie ever made" is a very bold claim, but it's the one Unoriginal Ideas is going with for its first – and so far only – creation, a purple hoodie with the iconic head of Yugi Muto for a hood. Called the "YAMI HOODIE", the intriguing piece of apparel has been going viral on social media in China and other Asian countries both for its design and its spicy price tag – 190 dollars.

The unique hoodie only comes in the colour purple, most likely to fit the Yugi Muto theme, is made of cotton and apart from its spiky-hair hood, it also features the iconic character's golden medallion embroidered with silk. Still, that doesn't seem worth the price for a lot of people.

Wolf whisperer looks after 320 wolves

Beijing: A 26-year-old animal lover from China has been taking care of over 320 wolves at a wildlife rescue station in the country's Inner Mongolia region.

Ever since he was a child, Wang Nan was fascinated by the unity and bonds of wolves as a species, so when he got a chance to work with his favourite animals as an adult, he jumped at the opportunity. In 2015, he started working at an animal rescue reserve in Xilinhot, Inner Mongolia, taking care of injured wild wolves, feeding them, breeding them and slowly earning their trust. Over the years, his pack of wolves grew to around 320 animals, including young pups, who seem to consider him their friend.

Reschedule timings of Shatabdi and Vande Bharat Express trains

Sir,

The recent move by the South Western Railway (SWR), Mysuru Division, to revise the break / maintenance schedule of Train No. 12007 / 12008 Shatabdi Express and No.22607 / 22608 Vande Bharat Express running between Mysuru and Chennai via Bengaluru and back is most welcome.

As per the revised schedule, effective from 20.12.2023 train No. 12007 / 12008 Shatabdi will have a break every week on Thursday while train No.22607 / 22608 Vande Bharat on Wednesday (SOM dated Aug. 23, 2023).

Presently the departure timings of these two trains from Chennai differ marginally by a gap of 10 mins; Train No. 20607 departs at 05.50 hrs while No.12007 at 06.00 hrs. These timings are surely based on the track availability en route at various points. However, being quite often a commuter of these two Super Fast / Luxury trains to Chennai, I strongly suggest the concerned authorities to give a thought on starting one of these two trains from Mysuru and the other from Chennai in the wee hours anywhere between 05.00 and 06.00 hrs.

The return timings from Chennai / Mysuru could be rescheduled accordingly. No doubt this is a tough task ahead for the authorities in view of the traffic load on the tracks especially between Mysuru and Bengaluru.

I am sure this change if implemented the commuters especially traveling between Bengaluru and Chennai while being happy, would be largely benefited. Further the number of commuters by these trains might also increase visa a visa the revenue to the SWR.

Consequent to this change, I am aware of the additional problem involved heretofore with respect to rescheduling of the timings of the superfast train No.12610 from Mysuru to Chennai, which is presently leaving Mysuru at 05.00 hrs. However with a sincere approach any knotty issue could be definitely solved successfully.

TikTok star 'Smile' Naveen murdered; eight arrested

- Naveen was kidnapped while shooting reels in front of Mysore Palace on Aug. 27
- Suspected to have been killed to avenge murder of BBMP BJP Corporator's nephew in Ramanagara district

Naveen

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (BS)-TikTok Star 'Smile' Naveen of Bengaluru, who was allegedly kidnapped in front of Mysore Palace on Aug. 27, was found murdered near Hullahalli Canal at Golur in Nanjangud taluk in the district.

Nanjangud Rural Police, led by Dy. SP V. Govindaraju, have arrested eight accused. Naveen was done to death in the moving car itself, before his body was disposed off near the canal, where it was found in a bush. He is suspected to have been murdered to avenge the killing of realtor Vinod at Kaggaliupura Police Station limits, Ramanagara district in July 2020. Vinod was the nephew of BBMP BJP Corporator Somanna.

A gang of 13 including Naveen had allegedly kidnapped Vinod before brutally murdering him. Naveen had surrendered to Police along with his four friends in the case. Later, the Police had arrested all the remaining accused, who were all lodged in a jail. Naveen had been released from the jail recently.

Naveen who was popular as 'TikTok Star' had a huge followers. He was not only acting for film songs, but was also shooting his own short stories, setting a craze among his fans. Besides, he was also associated with rowdies and jailed in the murder case. Even after the TikTok was banned, Naveen had continued to shoot videos for reels. He also had huge followers on Instagram and Facebook.

On Aug. 27, Naveen was shooting reels along with his friend Pavan and two girls in front of Varaha Gate, the main entrance to Mysore Palace at around 9.45 pm, when two cars made a sudden stop. The kidnappers in one of the cars tried to get hold of Naveen and Pavan. As the two started to run, another car with 10 kidnappers inside, rammed into them, before taking the duo in the vehicle. Both started pleading inside the car, saying 'Parami anna nanalla, nannannu bittu bidi' (It's not me Parami, please leave me). Chandru, a guide at Palace, who saw the kidnapping incident, informed K.R. Police. Though the Police made a bid to trail kidnappers, they lost their trace after some time. Following day (Aug. 28) at 4.30 pm, a body was found in a bush near Hullahalli Canal, in Nanjangud taluk, that was later identified to be as that of Naveen, by Nanjangud Rural Police during investigation. While Naveen was hacked to death inside the car, Pavan had been let off by the kidnappers.

As the kidnapping incident took place in Devaraja Police limits, KR Police have transferred the kidnap case to Devaraja Police Station.

The murder case, currently being probed by Nanjangud Rural Police, is expected to be transferred to KR Police Station, as it is confirmed that Naveen was murdered in KR Police Station limits, according to Police sources.

Real estate con: City couple loses Rs. 1.25 cr.

Mysuru, Aug. 31-A couple from Telangana, who lured a couple from city into real estate business by promising them high profits, has allegedly cheated the couple to the tune of Rs. 1.25 crore.

The city couple, who was cheated is 52-year-old Srinivas Hosamane and his wife 44-year-old Nagarathna Hosamane, residents of Bogadi in city while the accused couple are 58-year-old Sunil Ghanate and his wife 50-year-old Ganga Ghanate of Secunderabad in Telangana.

Details: When Srinivas was working at Tek Systems Global Services in Hyderabad as a manager, he came to know Ghanate couple, who used to frequently visit their house in Mysuru. During the course of a visit, Sunil and Ganga convinced Srinivas couple to invest in their construction business with a promise of earning high returns.

From Aug. 9, 2017 till Aug. 30, 2019, Sunil and Ganga had obtained a total of Rs. 1.25 crore from Srinivas and Nagarathna couple, but failed to pay back their money, thus cheating them.

Saraswathipuram Police, who have registered a case, are investigating.

Suicide pact at Chamundipuram

Four arrested for abetment; two more accused on the run

Cops act on death note left behind by the deceased

Mysuru, Aug. 31- Krishnaraja (KR) Police investigating into the suspected suicide pact of a family of four in Chamundipuram in the city recently, have registered a case against six persons on charges of abetment to suicide.

Four among the accused have been arested, while a manhunt is launched for two others who are absconding. Those arrested were produced before a Court, which has remanded them to judicial custody.

Those who have been arrested are middleman at Bandipalya N.P. Manjunath, Bannur Ravi, 'Cassette' Ramesh and 'C.H. Crate' Mahadevanna. The Police are on a look out for two other accused Manjunath's wife and Kotehundi Mahadevu.

Four of a family – Bandipalya vegetable trader Mahadevaswamy, his wife Anitha and daughters Chandrakala and Dhanalakshmi – had ended their lives at their rented house in Chamundipuram. The incident came to light on Sunday, when neighbours alerted the Police following a foul smell from the house.

The Police, who had rushed to the spot, entered the house through the rear door only to find the decomposed bodies of the four.

When the Police and Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) experts searched the house, they found a death note where it was mentioned that the six persons were responsible for their death.

Based on the death note, deceased Anitha's mother Premakumari had lodged a complaint at K.R. Police Station, leading to the arrest of four persons.

Elder citizen cheated of Rs. 40,000

Mysuru, Aug. 31- A miscreant, in the guise of helping a senior citizen to activate his new ATM card, has cheated the latter of Rs. 40,000 by changing the ATM card and withdrawing cash.

The senior citizen, who lost his hard earned money, is 78-year-old Narasimhamurthy, a retired senior Post Officer and a resident of Lakshmipuram in city.

As Narasimhamuthy's ATM card had expired, he had received a new card from the Bank. To activate the new ATM card, Narasimhamuthy went to Canara Bank ATM kiosk at Jayalakshmipuram on Aug. 27 at about 11 am but was finding it difficult to activate the new card.

Meanwhile, the miscreant, who offered to help Narasimhamurthy, activated the card and asked Narasimhamurthy not to withdraw cash for 24 hours and left from the ATM kiosk.

But at about 3.30 pm on the same day, Narasimhamurthy received a message on his mobile phone that Rs. 10,000 cash was debited four times totalling Rs. 40,000 from his bank account.

The miscreant, after activating the new ATM card of Narasimhamurthy had exchanged the ATM card and had given some other ATM card to Narasimhamurthy. He then utilised the newly activated ATM card and had withdrawn cash.

Jayalakshmipuram Police, who have registered a case, are investigating.

Cracks mar stained glass domes

Demand for urgent restoration

Calls for urgent restoration have grown louder, especially with the annual Dasara festival just a month away, during which the Palace takes centre stage. The story of the Mysore Palace is as captivating as its architecture. The original wooden Palace, which once stood in the same location, was consumed by fire during the wedding celebrations of Sardar Kantharaje Urs and Jayalakshammanni on Feb. 28, 1897. She was the daughter of Tenth Chamarajendra Wadiyar and Kempananjammanni popular as 'Vani Vilasa Sannidhana'.

The subsequent decision to rebuild the Palace (from November 1897) paved the way for the creation of the Indo-Saracenic masterpiece that stands today. The reconstruction, guided by Madras Government architect Henry Irwin, skilfully blended influences from diverse architectural styles. Palace Engineer B.P. Raghavulu Naidu and artist Nagaraju also played crucial roles, with Nagaraju even sent to Europe to study other palaces.

German and Italian artisans were enlisted to meticulously craft the domes of the Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantapa. The total cost, including Henry Irwin's fee of Rs. 12,000, amounted to Rs. 41,47,913 and the construction was completed in 1912.

Innovative approaches adopted

The glass domes were adorned with a captivating peacock image, achieved through an ingenious fusion of glass inlay techniques. This innovation, inspired by photographs of the fire-damaged wooden Palace, artfully captured the Palace's heritage and splendour.

Innovative approaches, such as the incorporation of heat technology (to melt the glass and imprint the peacock design) and 'open-sky' concepts, allowed controlled ventilation and light infusion, preserving the delicate interiors. The expertise of Italian and German artisans shone through the intricate design of the domes, creating a stunning three-dimensional illusion while shielding the domes and interiors from rain and extreme heat.

However, despite the careful construction and engineering invested in the Palace's rebirth, the domes' gilded designs have succumbed to the elements over time. A lack of maintenance over the past four decades, rainwater intrusion, have caused these intricate embellishments to fade. Cracks have surfaced on stained domes of Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantapa.

Lack of uniformity in design

In previous instances of glass damage, the domes were repaired with normal white glass and not with the original peacock feather-shaped glass design. As a result, much of the originality has been lost, leading to a noticeable lack of uniformity in the glass colour patterns. While efforts are underway to revive the Palace's regal allure, challenges have arisen. Inviting experts to restore the intricate peacock designs on the domes proves difficult due to the complexity of the task and the prior commitments of the artists involved.

Presently, only two artists — one from Pune and another from Kerala — are equipped to undertake such intricate work. These artists have previously designed similar glass ceilings at the Madras High Court and a building in Kolkata. The Mysuru Palace Board had planned to engage these artists for the restoration of the Mysore Palace's glass domes.

Initiative taken in 2012

In 2012, officials from the Regional Conservation Laboratory invited the two artists to work on the Palace domes. However, disagreements over the cost of restoration and artistic work led to a standstill. Consequently, the artists did not proceed, and renovation efforts were put on hold.

Currently, the domes remain concealed beneath German tarpaulins, which are regularly replaced due to ongoing leakage issues. Member of erstwhile royal family Pramodadevi Wadiyar showed interest in revitalising the domes' splendid designs through the HH Sri Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar Foundation. However, bureaucratic obstacles and Government regulations have impeded the progress of her offer. Frustrated by the lack of action, citizens are now questioning why substantial annual revenue generated by the Mysore Palace is not allocated, even a fraction of it, towards repairs and restoration. They express concerns that without swift intervention, the continued deterioration could eventually jeopardise the structural integrity of the domes.

The stained glass domes glass domes atop Mysore Palace's Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantapa have sustained damage. Deliberations are underway regarding the restoration of the original sculpture design.

— Dr. K.V. Rajendra, Deputy Commissioner

Over the past 40 years, the peacock-shaped sculptures embellishing the domes of the Durbar Hall and Kalyana Mantapa have experienced a gradual decline. Urgent restoration is imperative to preserve their essence. However, political and bureaucratic hurdles have hindered progress. The Government must take prompt action.

— Prof. P.V. Nanjaraje Urs, Historian

Initial restoration efforts were initiated in 2012, aimed at reviving the peacock-shaped sculptures on the domes. Regrettably, these endeavours encountered impediments. Presently, skilled artisans are required to restore them. An expert committee must be formed to guide restoration efforts. This committee's recommendations would facilitate the commencement of restoration, ensuring the perpetuation of Mysore Palace's architectural splendour.

Former CM HDK hospitalised

Kumaraswamy

Bengaluru, Aug. 31 (Agencies)- Former Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) reportedly suffered a mild stroke yesterday and has been admitted to Apollo Hospital in the city.

Dr. Govindaiah Yatheesh, Vice-President and unit head, Apollo Speciality Hospital, Jayanagar, said that Kumaraswamy arrived at the hospital around 3.40 am and was immediately evaluated and shifted to the ICU where he is under the care of Dr. P. Sathish Chandra, a neurology specialist and his team.

"Currently, he (HDK) is hemodynamically stable, comfortable and coherent and has been kept under close observation," the Hospital's health bulletin stated.

Kumaraswamy's wife and former JD(S) MLA Anitha Kumaraswamy said there is no reason to panic.

Obituary

Haroon Rasheed Khan

Mysuru, Aug. 31- Haroon Rasheed Khan (79), a resident of Hanumanthanagar, passed away in the wee hours of today in city. He leaves behind one daughter and a host of relatives and friends.

Namaz-e-Janaza will be held today at Masjid Tipu in Bannimantap after Magrib (7 pm), followed by the burial at the Muslim Burial Grounds near Tipu Circle.

A grand Gajapayana from Veeranahosahalli

This time, the plan is to attract around 5,000 attendees to the launch site. The Tourism Department, along with local schools, colleges and women's self-help groups, has been actively involved in rallying people for the Gajapayana. At Veeranahosahalli, a farewell ceremony filled with vibrant folk performances by over 15 teams, including Kamsale, Dollu Kunitha, Veeragase Kunitha, Pooja Kunitha, tribal dances and even a Tibetan Dance, will bid adieu to the Dasara elephants as they embark on their journey.

The procession will commence from Veeranahosahalli Gate to the Nagapura Ashram School, and a festive atmosphere is already prevalent at the venue with a village fair-like ambience.

A large stage with waterproof tent-like shelter has been set up, and many villagers are arranging eateries, juice stalls, as well as stalls selling utensils and cloth to make a quick buck. The Forest Department has left no stone unturned in ensuring extensive publicity for the Gajapayana event. Large publicity boards have been strategically placed at over 20 locations across Mysuru city and along the main roads of Hunsur town. Moreover, arrangements have been made to provide food for over 3,000 individuals at the Nagapura Ashram School tomorrow.

The event will be under the leadership of Hunsur MLA G.D. Harish Gowda. Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Sciences Minister K. Venkatesh, Minister for Backward Classes Welfare Department Shivaraj Tangadagi, Mayor Shivakumar, MPs Pratap Simha, V. Srinivas Prasad and Sumalatha Ambarish, along with MLAs Tanveer Sait, G.T. Devegowda, Anil Chikkamadu, Darshan Dhruvanarayan, T.S. Srivatsa and K. Harishgowda and MLC A.H. Vishwanath and others will be present.

When a childhood dream took flight at age 60!

Children are known to be fascinated with the moon, Chandamama, and we read in folk tales children asking mothers to get the moon to play with. Here is a Mysurean, Ashvini Ranjan, who was fascinated with aeroplanes from his childhood days, but like the child in the folk tale, who dreamed of moon but could not get it, our Mysuru's young man also could not realise his childhood dream of becoming an aeroplane pilot. However, he was not the one to give up on his dream. He becomes a pilot at the age of 60. Read all about it in his own words.—Ed

WINGS TO A DREAM: Ashvini Ranjan posing with the Microlight plane that he flew solo in May 2007.

By Ashvini Ranjan

Like all children I too was fascinated with aeroplanes from my young age. I wanted to become a pilot when I grew up. I remember asking the elders in the family how anything could fly without fluttering its wings. They managed to avoid my question than attempting to explain the theory of aerodynamics. My parents thought my interest was a passing phase and I would get over it. Though my interests wandered in many different directions, aeroplanes had its special place both in my mind and heart.

When I was old enough to join the National Cadet Corps (NCC), I chose the Air Wing, hoping that it would qualify me to become a pilot and realise my childhood dream. My growing interest in aero-modelling and reading about aircraft was beginning to annoy my father. I had even risen to the rank of a sergeant in the NCC. I woke up early to attend parades and tiptoed out of the house without drawing too much attention. The day my father came to know that I had applied to undergo training in glider planes, all hell broke loose. My NCC uniform was confiscated and so was my bicycle. A letter to the Principal was also on the list of threats. Family debate and discussions during my school days was unheard of. It was an era of "you shall listen." And listen I did !

I soon stepped on the conveyor belt of time. Priorities changed and childhood dreams were either forgotten or took a back seat. In my case, the years rolled on. Studies, job, marriage, earning, children followed one after another and occupied my mind. Whatever was my occupation, I never failed to look up each time a plane passed by over my head, I would wish I was flying it.

It was my sixtieth birthday. A year considered a milestone in one's lifetime and an occasion to rejoice. And rejoice they did. Friends and family came by to wish me a happy retired life. I also received a birthday gift on life in retirement. Amid all the laughter and merriment, I turned to my wife Shashi and told her that I was going to learn to fly. Please go ahead she said, it is my gift to you on your birthday. She wished me luck in finding someone who would want to teach an old guy like me to fly. It sounded as though my wife had cracked the best joke of the evening given the laughter it evoked. Months passed when a few friends who were present that evening at the party thought it funny when they enquired how my flying lessons were going on.

Little did Shashi know that I was making the necessary enquiries about what would qualify me to fly. I was happy that age was not a limiting factor, if the certifying Air Force doctor found me physically fit. I had started paying extra attention to my diet. I was not surprised when the doctor found me fit to undergo training to fly.

Though I had trained for six months, the actual time of flying the aircraft with an instructor was only thirteen hours. I am sure the reader will wonder why. There were many factors that determined the conditions to fly, the most important being the weather. Visibility had to be good, clear sky with no rain clouds, strong winds too was a limiting factor. I used to drive to the airfield each day very early in the morning hoping and praying the weather conditions would be suitable for flying. Days on end I would return home without a flight. Time was also spent on learning the theory of flying, aircraft maintenance, pre and post flight checks etc.

Wing Commander Ashok Mehta, our flying school instructor and a former fighter pilot in the Indian Air Force, was a stickler for time and details. He insisted that every little detail was followed and would remind his students time and again that when it came to flying an aeroplane, the pilot's life depended on attention and compliance to details however small. One lesson that was repeated without fail were the ways to overcome emergencies and procedures to follow. The first requirement was not to panic and the second, we were required to look out for a field to land in the event of an emergency. This was followed by manoeuvres to maintain minimum speed to prevent the aircraft from stalling etc. By the time our training was over, we knew verbatim every word that was said.

Microlights, as the plane that we were being trained to fly were called, were small. It was powered by a single engine and weighed about 400 kgs in all. Unlike modern day aircraft with sophisticated electronics to aid the pilot, a microlight aircraft pilot had to depend upon his own judgement. Its body was made of a fabric unlike metal of larger planes to minimise weight. The little plane would get tossed around like a kite in the sky if the winds were strong. You need to keep your 'cool,' our instructor would remind us.

It was a sleepless night for me the day before I was to fly solo. It was 13th of May 2007. It was a day I had waited, carrying my childhood dream, for 62 years. I was to fly the aircraft solo. Besides all the bravado of wanting to become a pilot and fly a plane, I experienced butterflies in the stomach.

I had not disclosed the significance of the day to my wife Shashi nor anybody other than my course mates. Shashi had never subscribed to my idea of learning to fly. Inadvertently, she had committed herself to it. Moreso, I was not 'a spring chicken' any more according to her. I did not want to create any anxiety in others. I tried my best to appear composed. Shashi had sensed my restlessness, but had chosen to remain silent given my passion for the sport. As I drove into the airfield, the sun was just about above the horizon, I saw the aircraft being fuelled and readied for my epic solo flight. And yes, there was another reason why I was feeling so anxious.

A month before, I had come close to giving up flying. Wing Commander Ashok Mehta and I had just got airborne during one training session. The aircraft was steadily climbing and I noticed that the altimeter reading showed five hundred feet above ground and I was supposed to level off the craft at seven hundred feet. Suddenly the aircraft engine sputtered and stopped. My heart too almost stopped. At that height and with no power, there was no way we could have turned around to make the plane glide up to the runway. The only option was to land in any open space with no obstacles. My hands gripped the control stick with fear.

There was silence except for the rush of the wind. All the lessons to manage such emergency situations came flashing back. Out of reflex, I pushed the control stick forward to bring the nose of the aircraft down to maintain the minimum flying speed. Gravity was the only recourse. A speed less than 80 kms, the plane would stall and crash. I looked at Ashok with tension all over my face and sweat breaking out. Shall I find a place to land, I asked. Let me take control, said Ashok. Nothing could have sounded more comforting. He was calm and the emergency situation did not seem to bother him. He was looking around for a field to make an emergency landing. We were losing height rapidly. The only open field was beyond the hangar shed in the airfield. But that building was in our flight path. The question was whether we would be able to fly above it !

Both Ashok and I were perceiving the situation differently. To me this appeared like a life-threatening situation. But to Ashok, a highly decorated fighter pilot, it must have appeared just another occupational hazard. What appeared an impossible manoeuvre for me, Ashok made it look so simple. His understanding of the aircraft behaviour and its limits, the forces of the wind outside, the turbulence that aided the aircraft was beyond my understanding. It is such skills that one acquired with experience and which made Ashok an expert pilot. While these thoughts occupied my mind, I remained motionless.

With his deft handling, the aircraft glided smoothly above the building in front of us and with sufficient clearance. We landed on the rough ground and without too much damage. Ashok thought my reflex actions and not panicking was praiseworthy. But I was in no state of mind to appreciate the compliment while standing on the ground with my legs trembling. However, when we later assembled for a debriefing with other trainees, Ashok once again acknowledged my conduct when faced with a crisis situation. Engine failure was an extremely rare occurrence and that I was one among the lucky persons to have experienced it. This little praise helped my resolve to continue to learn to fly.

Solo flight is the ultimate test for a trainee pilot. Ashok asked me to carry out all the pre-flight checks to ensure the aircraft was ready for flight. As I buckled up to roll, all my course mates and instructor lined up and gave me a thumbs up. As I taxied towards the beginning of the runway, I was wondering if it was worth the risk. But the praise I had received for my flying skills egged me on. As I positioned the aircraft at the beginning of the runway, I could see all my friends at a distance waiting to witness the takeoff. The more I delayed, more the fear. Suddenly I heard myself say loudly, 'Come on Ashvin, go for it' and gently pressed the throttle.

The lift off and the climb was smooth. I had left the ground. I was airborne and climbing steadily. The air-field, the buildings below started looking smaller and smaller as I was gaining both height and distance. My only thought was to get back on the ground as quickly as possible. I had reached the prescribed height. I was now required to go round the airfield and align the aircraft to land. A takeoff is the easy part of flying. Landing the aircraft is a tricky business. I had covered the distance and I had overcome the initial tension. I was now required to align the aircraft to descend gradually to make a touch down at the beginning of the runway at a landing speed of 60 kms.

The winds were strong and the aircraft swayed to and fro making it difficult to keep the nose of the aircraft in line with the runway. If I missed the commencement and overshot, I would not have sufficient distance to stop the aircraft. At a distance, I saw Ashok standing beside the runway with his thumbs up to convey that I was doing well. The speed at which you touch down is critical. It is unnerving to see the ground approaching so fast. Though you are instructed to see the far end of the runway and not the ground in the immediate front, one cannot help it. At least for the beginners.

And at about five feet from the ground, the pilot is required to level off. A mistake here can be dangerous. My paying attention to the manner in which Ashok managed the aircraft at this juncture while training helped immensely. The sight of the ground was so comforting. The aircraft touched down gently and rolled on till the craft came to a halt. When I got off the plane and stood on the ground, I felt a sense of immense joy. I caressed the aircraft gently both to express my gratitude and for helping me realise my childhood dream !

Three women entrepreneurs from Mysuru at Cambodia Meet

Chayaa Nanjappa Rajappa (2nd from right), Country President - India and State President of Karnataka, ABWCI and Founder-Managing Partner, Nectar Fresh, signing an MoU with Cambodian women's organisation.

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (BCT)- A high-profile women entrepreneur delegation from India completed a fruitful visit to Cambodia recently. The group comprised 55 women entrepreneurs (25 from Karnataka) from organisations such as Ubuntu Consortium, Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce & Industry (FKCCI), WISE (Women's Wing of Mysore Chamber of Commerce and Industry - MCCI).

This apart, there were representatives from Rakshak Foundation, Nectar Fresh & Naman, Confederation of Real Estate Developers' Associations of India, Chennai, Association of Business Women in Commerce & Industry (ABWCI), Visakhapatnam Chamber of Commerce and Industry (VCCI), eMerge, ALeap, ISBR Business School, Acharya Institute of Management and Sciences Institute, Indian Institutional Women League, Bhoopalam Botanicals, among others.

The visit — from Aug. 26 to 29 — was facilitated by the Consulate of Cambodia in Bengaluru Karthik Tallam and Head of Political and Economic Department at the Consulate Yashi Dhariwal. The 55 accomplished women entrepreneurs from India converged in Krong Siem Reap, Cambodia, representing diverse sectors including agriculture, manufacturing, edutech, cyber security, healthcare, financial management, waste management, frozen products, jute, logistics, travel and tourism.

Bridging gender gaps

The initiative aimed to bridge gender gaps in leadership, drawing inspiration from Cambodia's impressive 61 percent representation of women in business. With only 13.76 percent of Indian entrepreneurs being women, the need for increased visibility and representation is evident. The event offered enriching business interactions, networking opportunities, and cultural experiences where the Indian delegates engaged with counterparts such as the Cambodia Chamber of Commerce (CCC) and Cambodia Women Entrepreneurs Association (CWEA), aiming to foster collaborations.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, WISE (Women In Small Enterprise), the women's wing of MCCI, President T.A. Vasantha Kumari said that this initiative fosters gender-balanced leadership and nurturing women entrepreneurs. The Indian entrepreneurs engaged with Cambodia Women Entrepreneurs Association (CWEA), India-Cambodia Chamber of Commerce (InCham), B2B Cambodia, Youth Entrepreneurs Association of Cambodia (YEAC), and JCI Cambodia. Over five Memorandum of Understanding (MoUs) were signed between Indian and Cambodian organisations. The agenda included B2B networking sessions, buyer-seller meetings, panel discussions featuring Indian and Cambodian entrepreneurs, and a special felicitation of Indian women achievers.

Chayaa Nanjappa Rajappa, Country President - India and State President of Karnataka, ABWCI and Founder - Managing Partner, Nectar Fresh, said that her mission was to understand how Cambodian pepper is grown with better productivity than that is grown in India. "Also, I went there to collect samples for my tribal artisans' retail store venture, 'Naman' to promote tribal artefacts in India. I have aimed to promote over 4,000 artisans," she said.

The meet was productive and 3 MoUs were signed between the ABWCI and the Cambodian women's organisation to create employment and empowering women, she added. A statement from UBUNTU Consortium, headed by former Karnataka Chief Secretary K. Rathnaprabha, said that it has a strategic partnership with CWEA. The MoU marks a significant step toward enhancing cross-border collaboration.

This collaboration is poised to open new avenues for co-operation, trade expansion and cultural exchange between the two nations. The central focus is to foster mutual support and growth opportunities for women entrepreneurs. This partnership introduces a range of strategic initiatives that align with this overarching objective.

One of the key elements of the collaboration is the facilitation of product exports by women entrepreneurs. This initiative aims to empower these entrepreneurs by enabling them to tap into international markets and expand their businesses globally. By enhancing visibility and providing access to a broader customer base, this collaboration is anticipated to significantly contribute to the growth of women-led businesses.

Managing Director of Edukare ITES Rachana Mahesh was also part of delegation from Mysuru and signed an MoU with Cambodian organisation.

Savarkar shaped notion of a sovereign and assertive India

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (BCT)- Those who oppose Savarkar are against India's sovereignty and integrity. He is the anti-colonial activist who played a crucial role in India's struggle for independence and was involved in various revolutionary activities against British rule, said former Chairman of D. Devaraj Urs Backward Classes Development Corporation R. Raghu Kautilya.

He was speaking after distributing prizes to the winners of State-level drawing contest organised by Savarkar Pratishtana, Mysuru, at Freedom Fighter's Park in Subbarayanakere recently.

"Savarkar's bravery and resilience in the face of British repression are often commended by all those who love the country. Despite facing rigorous imprisonment and torture, he remained steadfast in his commitment to the cause of Indian freedom and did not compromise his principles," he added.

Savarkar's advocacy for militant activism was a response to the repressive policies of the British colonial regime. They view his calls for armed resistance as a strategic approach to counter British oppression and to instill a sense of nationalism and unity among Indians, especially the youths, Raghu said.

"He is a nationalist thinker who emphasised the concept of Hindutva which aimed at unifying Indians on the basis of a shared cultural heritage rather than religious affiliations. Only if the present and future generations are taught about Savarkar, can we have a great momentum of nationalism. Otherwise, we will be forced to read the history written by oppressors and historians with vested interests," he added.

Savarkar has been a strong advocate of a formidable international stance for India. "His ideas helped shape the notion of a sovereign and assertive India on the global stage and opposing such a man by some people who have no knowledge of history is against national interest," Raghu Kautilya added.

The first prize of Rs. 10,000 in the painting competition was bagged by Pampapathy of Ballari, Veeresh of Gadag came second with a prize of Rs. 7,000 and Basavaraj of Chamarajanagar came third and got Rs. 5,000.

Vinod, Sanjay, Manish, Bhavya, Tilak Kumar, Tanya, Mallikarjun, Tejaswini, Somasekhar, Chandan Kumar received consolation prizes. S.M. Rajat, H.K. Sandesh, S. Ashwin, Rakesh Bhat, Yogesh, Hemant, Ram Tejaswi and others of Savarkar Pratishtana were present.

CM inaugurates redeveloped Al-Badr Circle at Rajivnagar

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (SPN&DM)- Chief Minister Siddharamaiah inaugurated the Al-Badr Circle in Rajivnagar Second Stage on Wednesday. The Circle, constructed by the MCC at a cost of Rs. 2.47 crore, was fully illuminated during the event.

Siddharamaiah highlighted the key features of the Circle, including a 25 ft. tall illuminated pillar, a fountain and well-maintained tiled roads. He praised MCC Corporator and former Mayor Ayub Khan for his dedicated efforts in developing the circle, which falls under the N.R. Assembly segment.

The junction near Al-Badr Mosque has been redeveloped on the lines of Dubai landmarks and now stands as one of the best and well-designed junctions in the Heritage City of Mysuru. The junction features a 8.25 mts-tall decorative kettle at its centre, elevated on a pedestal, and surrounded by a pool and fountains. Ornamental plants and trees have been meticulously planted symmetrically to enhance the aesthetics of the surroundings.

Emphasising the importance of enhancing the city's infrastructure, Siddharamaiah stressed that the cooperation of the people is crucial for Mysuru to regain its 'Cleanest City' designation, which the city previously earned twice during his earlier tenure as Chief Minister.

The Chief Minister reiterated his Government's commitment to the comprehensive and organised development of Mysuru, with a focus on involving elected representatives from all political parties.

He accused the BJP of undermining social harmony in the State, asserting that Hindus, Christians and Muslims are all part of the same community. He alleged that the BJP's divisive actions are aimed at creating communal divisions within society.

The event saw the participation of District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi, Urban Development Minister Byrathi Suresh, MLAs Tanveer Sait, K. Harishgowda and D. Ravishankar, MLC C.N. Manjegowda, former MLC Sandesh Nagaraj, former MLAs Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah and M.K. Somashekar, former Mayors Ayub Khan, Arif Hussain, and Narayana, Congress leader M. Shivanna, Wakf Board President Mohammad Fayaz, and other local leaders.

Congress pours cold water on 'Greater Mysuru'

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (PM&BCT)- The move to upgrade the existing Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) to a Greater Mysuru (Bruhat Mysuru Mahanagara Palike) on the lines of Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) received a jolt as the Congress Corporators of the MCC opposed it.

At the MCC Suggestion Committee meeting held yesterday, the Congress Corporators staged a walkout opposing any move to form Greater Mysuru. In 2012-13, a proposal was mooted for formation of Greater Mysuru by bringing 110 villages into Corporation limits and in October 2017, the MCC had carried out a survey in 44 villages around the city. Presently, MCC's jurisdiction is restricted to a 128.4 sq km area falling within the Outer Ring Road (ORR). Several new residential Layouts approved by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) fall outside MCC's limits.

The boundary of MCC was earlier fixed on Oct. 18, 1995, according to Karnataka Municipal Corporation Act 1976. Even after drawing the boundary, the city is growing by leaps and bounds, forcing the civic body to attend to the needs of localities situated near its boundary.

The Greater Mysuru will comprise Yelwal Gram Panchayat (20.76 sq km), Srirampura Town Panchayat (17.84 sq km), Siddalingapura Gram Panchayat (14.70 sq km), Rammanahalli Town Panchayat (22.11 sq km), Kadakola Town Panchayat (34.71 sq km), Hootagalli City Municipal Council (29.70 sq km), Chamundi Hill Gram Panchayat (6 sq km), Bogadi Town Panchayat (35.50 sq km) and Alanahalli Gram Panchayat (5.69 sq km).

According to the Congress Corporators, the BJP is in a hurry to bring in Greater Mysuru and the time is not ripe for such a move. Thousands of crores of rupees is needed to form Greater Mysuru, they argue .

On the other hand, the BJP Corporators have been asking the Government to take note of the rapid growth of Mysuru and the need to upgrade the Urban Local Body (ULB) as Greater Mysuru by expanding its jurisdiction as well as to provide infrastructure.

The proposed Peripheral Ring Road provides better connectivity between all localities, they said, seeking cooperation for Greater Mysuru concept.

Commissioner has infringed my rights as Mayor: Shivakumar

Mysuru, Aug. 31 (BLU&BCT)- Mayor Shivakumar has raised objections to the decision of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner, Ashaad-ur-Rahman Shariff, to cancel the scheduled Council meeting for today, Aug. 31 at 11 am. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the Greater Mysuru project.

Shivakumar

The cancellation notice was issued by the Council Secretary in-charge under the instruction of Commissioner Ashaad-ur-Rahman Shariff. The reason provided was that higher officials had been summoned to Bengaluru for a 'mandatory' meeting with the Urban Development Minister. Mayor Shivakumar, at a press conference this morning, expressed his concerns regarding this decision. He pointed out that, according to the Karnataka Municipal Act, the authority to cancel or postpone Council meetings rests solely with the Mayor. The Commissioner lacks authority to make such a decision.

"The Commissioner's actions are a result of pressure from certain vested interests who oppose the Greater Mysuru project," Shivakumar said.

Interestingly, today's Council meeting was meant to be Mayor Shivakumar's final session as chairperson, as MCC elections are scheduled for this September. He asserted that the cancellation of the meeting infringes upon his rights and powers as the Mayor.

Vowing to challenge this decision in a Court, Mayor also accused the Congress of being against Greater Mysuru project. The Commissioner's decision might have been influenced by the party's stance.

Deputy Mayor Dr. G. Roopa, Corporators S.B.M. Manju, Shobha and others were present at the press conference.

Protests over Cauvery heat up in Mandya

Srirangapatna, Aug. 31 (BS)- Following the release of water from KRS reservoir, farmers led by Melukote MLA Darshan Puttanaiah launched overnight protest on the road leading to Brindavan Garden yesterday.

MLA Darshan, accompanied by Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) leaders, raised slogans against the Government and Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA) for releasing water, in compliance with the diktat of CWMA to release 5,000 cusecs of water daily to Tamil Nadu for 15 days.

Venting their anguish, the protesters called it unfair on the part of the Government to release water to Tamil Nadu even amid the crises. It is also not acceptable on the part of CWMA to pass such an order, ignoring the reality. The farmers of the State have been meted out injustice as the State Government has failed to convince CWMA about the present water storage at the dam. The water has been released at the cost of farmers. The releasing of water to Tamil Nadu should be stopped at the earliest or else the protest will continue till the discharge of water is stopped, the agitating farmer leaders warned.

KRRS State President Badagalapura Nagendra, General Secretary Prasanna N. Gowda, leader Deepu Gowda, KRRS Srirangapatna Taluk President Krishne Gowda, Pandavaura Taluk President P. Nagaraju, Secretary Vijikumar, Palahalli Ramanna, Kadathanalu Balu, Balaramu, Katteri Mahadevu and several other farmers took part in the protest.

Youths Rally: On the other hand, blindfolded youths, under the banner of Mandya Youth Group, took out a jatha from Mahaveer Circle to J.C. Wadiyar Circle in Mandya town, condemning the injustice to Karnataka in Cauvery row.

Zilla Raitha Hitarakshana Samiti: Leaders of the Samiti, who convened a meeting at Gandhi Bhavan yesterday, gave a call for protest from today (Aug. 31), appealing all the organisations to take part in the protest.

Former Minister M.S. Atmananda, former MLA G.B. Shivakumar, leaders Mallanayakana Katte Boregowda, Sunanda Jayaram, Prashanth Babu and others were present.

Water from KRS to TN yet again

Abiding by the order of CWMA, State Government is releasing water from KRS dam to Tamil Nadu since Tuesday night (Aug. 29) through Cauvery river.

Defying the warnings of farmer organisations, the State Government is releasing water by opening the crest gates to facilitate the flow of water to river. So far, a total of 7,380 cusecs of water is released from the dam for meeting drinking water requirements and to Tamil Nadu.

It is said that, CWMA order has sounded a death knell for the farmers of Mandya, whose condition will be pathetic, if 5,000 cusecs of water is released to TN daily up to 15 days. It will also bring down the water level in the dam from present 24 TMC ft to 17 TMC ft. If it reduces to 17 TMC ft, the dead storage of five TMC ft has to be maintained, with only 12 TMC ft of water remaining, which makes it impossible to release water to the crops. The farmers of Mandya, who are largely dependent on Cauvery water, cannot expect water for their crops even on alternative days. If water is not released to canals, the standing sugarcane crops will dry, so also the paddy crops, the saplings of which was sown recently.
